COMING TO A COMPUTER NEAR YOU!

THE WORLD IS ONE CLICK AWAY!

As a way to create advocacy for the study abroad industry, StudyAbroad.com created BlogAbroad.com. This website serves as a living, breathing study abroad handbook in which study abroad students chronicle their exciting adventures in foreign countries via words and photos in interactive Web logs. Anyone from anywhere in the world can read and respond to these Web logs, thus learning first hand what it is like to study abroad.

The second season of this educational advocacy project is beginning with new levels of excitement and interactivity. Send your students to www.BlogAbroad.com to see first hand what it's like to live the ultimate adventure by studying abroad.
